THE 1994-95 DEDICATON GOES TO MARILEE OLDORF

The 1994-95 edition of the B&W Annual is dedicated to Marilee Oldorf. Mrs. Oldorf currently teaches at the high school. Her classes consist of health, geography, physical education, and publications ("The Lincoln Log"). She coaches high school volleyball as well as junior high volleyball, track, and basketball. She has been very successful in coaching volleyball, taking the state championship on her fourth consecutive appearance at state.

Mrs. Oldorf was born and raised in Sheffield, Iowa. She went to UNI to obtain her degree in teaching. While attending UNI, she participated on the field hockey team. Her first teaching position was here at Lincoln in 1971 and has resided in rural Stanwood ever since. She is the mother of three children; Meredith (19), Nathan (18), and Lance (16).

Mrs. Oldorf is very involved with extracurricular activities such as Health Day, Ski Day, and the Big Brother/Big Sister program. Beyond her school duties, she takes pride in operating a farm. The student body of Lincoln salutes you, Mrs. "O". This school has stood the test of time. The halls still whisper with sounds of laughter from years ago. Many friendships were started here, and many marriages predestined. As we move into 1995, Lincoln will pass into the history books and North Cedar will take its place. Lincoln has been a building block for the lives of hundreds of students. It has prepared students for the "real" world by teaching them responsibility, commitment and how to build up their character.

There have been numerous achievements over the years. Lincoln's Athletic Department has brought home numerous Conference Championships. State Championship's were brought home over the years in softball, volleyball, wrestling, track, and cross-country. In addition to our athletes fine performances, Ray Linder (basketball) and Marilee Oldorf were named "Coach of the Year" in 1991. Coach Marilee Oldorf was also named "Coach of the Year" in 1992.

In the cheering section, the Lincoln Cheerleading Squad placed first in the 1992 state competition.

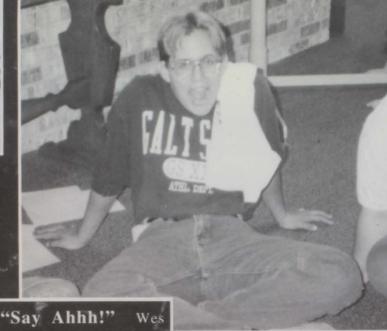

Success carries over into many areas at Lincoln. One of those areas of excellence is our Fine Arts Department. In 1989, our Problem Solving team won first place in the state competition and went on to the International Competition in Michigan. Throughout the years the speech department has sent many students on to compete at the state and all-state level. Band and Choir have also been successful in sending many participants to compete at the state level.

North Cedar has by now become a reality to everyone. The colors chosen by the students of both Lincoln and Clarence/Lowden are teal, black, and silver with the mascot being a "Knight". There have been people behind the scenes that are trying to make this transaction as smooth as possible One major group is the Peer Counseling Group. The peer group from both schools have been working hard together to reassure the students that next year will be the beginning of a wonderful future. They are committed to seeing a positive move into the North Cedar School District. The NC School Board and staff have also played a major role in this transaction. They have had many staff meetings and have worked hard at creating a top-notch schedule for the 1995-1996 school vear.

For some, the future seems frightening and unstable. For others, it's full of excitement and adventure. While many look at next year to bring new opportunities, challenges, and new friends we hope to bring some focus on this year and to give you a yearbook that will remind you of the good times, inspire you about the present, and give you hope for the future. "Out With a Bang" is exactly the message the Annual Staff wants to convey. This last year at Lincoln should be full of excitement and memories. We hope that the 1994-1995 school year was the most explosive year since the beginning of Lincoln, 34 years ago. This yearbook edition is a record of the final year and all the years before it. The final chapter of a beautiful novel, and yet, maybe, the first edition of a wonderful series.

"I'm...falling.....asleep......" Fifth grade just must be too hard for Owen Brobst to handle!

Over the course of a year, a lot goes on at the elementary that we may not even realize. Around Halloween time, the school is filled with witches, fairies, skeletons, and even Mighty Morphin Power Rangers! At the end of the day, everybody gathers in the gymnasium to watch the children line up across the stage for the annual "Grand March". Parents have a prime picture taking opportunity! The fourth grade class expresses their absolute best talent by creating scary jack-o-laterns. The pumpkins are not carved, but the kids are entitled to use any kind of material they want. They use cardboard, paint, and yarn, for instance. The pumpkins are then displayed on top of the lockers for all to see.

Soon after Halloween, the whole elementary switches to a variety of Christmas events. Third graders make paper chains to count down the days. Paper chains are then hanging all over from ceiling to the floor for days.

The first big holiday of the New Year is Valentine's Day. Fourth, fifth, and sixth graders construct their very own valentine mail boxes. Then when each student brings valentine cards for the rest of the class, they just slip them into the mail boxes. When the class has their Valentine's Day party, everyone opens up their mail boxes and reads the cards.

Around the middle of May, second graders make a trip to the old one-room schoolhouse Abbe Creek. It's really a big event for them because all of the kids wear clothing dating from the 'Old West' era. They bring their lunches in metal pails or wrapped up in a handkerchief. The day is spent pretending to do lessons form years ago. Sometimes a child will even get stuck in the corner with the dunce cap on!

This is about the same time that the fifth graders are working hard on their Iowa History books. They gather information on Iowa and spend class time working on pages for their books.

"Psst! Are you receiving my brain waves?" Alexa Billings and Rachel Bang are caught trying to communicate telepathically in class.

the elementary principals. Then the best qualified are chosen, taking into consideration why they want to be an aide and if the student could maintain their grades. The elementary aides travel over to the elementary two periods every day, to help out or "aid" the elementary teach-

Time is well spent correcting papers, lamenating materials, copying, cutting, and of course helping out the "youngsters." Some of the common reasons as to why they become an elementary aide is because of the interaction with young minds and wanting to be an impact on their lives and education.

Lincoln staff members this year have done an outstanding job of keeping this school in good shape by helping in sporting events, plays, and other activities.

The teachers have been extra busy this year, doing special and unique things. Mr. DeSotel wrote an article that was published and a piece entitled "Reflections" that was played in the spring concert by the high school band. Mr. Hayes wrote a dramatic acting piece that was performed at the All-State Contest by Robin Sandberg. Mrs. Thompson's and Mrs. Scearce's peer counselors joined with the Clarence-Lowden peers to do activites and projects to make next year's merger an easier transition.

Several faculty members are moving on and will be missed. Mr. Grimm and Mrs. Ferguson will retire this year. Mr. and Mrs. Billings will be moving to Fredericksburg where he has accepted a superintendent's position.

The staff has worked hard to make this final year one worth remembering.

"Getting to know the students on a one-on-one basis is a great part of teaching."

Hair-Raising Halloween Fun!

Boo! Another frightful Halloween has passed with students and teachers enjoying the costumes, pumpkin carving, and candy.

The elementary students had their Halloween parties after they paraded around the gym in their costumes.

At the secondary center a pumpkin carving contest, sponsored by the Student Council, was held. The second half of the senior class was announced as the winners and they received a pizza party for the class.

2. The Fuzzy

As Jenny Weber knows, using a highlighter will help identify the important parts of the fuzzy which gives a broad overview of the problem at hand in a future time.

3. 20 Problems

Write 20 possible problems that could occur in the fuzzy situation.

8. The Underlined Solution

Ann Cavey shows the joy of finding the best solution to the underlined problem.

7. Evaluate the Solutions Using the question

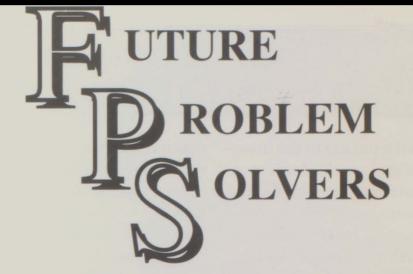

Using the questions of criteria, take the best ten solutions and rate them.

The above is the eight steps to the problem solving method.

Future Problem Solvers (FPS) had another outstanding year. For the second year in a row, the same FPS team advanced from regionals with a second place finish to state competition. The team was comprised of Ann Cavey, Jenny Weber, Melissa Koberle, and Jennifer Cummings.

Besides the state-bound team, there were two teams of junior high students who unfortunately did not place high enough to continue.

This year, all three teams tackled the topics of homelessness, city problems, and violence. The team who participated in the state bowl also handled the problem of prejudice. These teams committed themselves to coming into school early once a week to prepare. Beyond mornings, they also had the chance to experience a homeless shelter in Iowa City.

4. The Underlined Problem

Focus in on a broad problem that could improve the conditions which exist in the fuzzy situation. !!!!

5. 20 Solutions

!! Construct 20 possible solutions that!! would correct the underlined problem.

6. Criteria

Mrs. Kaefring creates 1 of the 5 necessary questions of criteria to judge the solutions.

An EXPLOSION of Homecoming CANDIDS

From the parade to the dressup days, this year's Homecoming showed our true school spirit.

The winners of the dress-up contest were Keith Lehrman and Shannon Stolte for Farmer Day. Tony Holets and Becky Tenley were the best beach bums. Paul Draper and Ann Cavey were the best dressed on Opposite Sex Day. Gretchen Brown and Jeff Otten won on Toga Day. On Black and White Day, Missy Steen and Bryan Warren were the most "un"-colorful.

The floats were spectacular, seniors won first, followed by sophmores, and juniors brought up the rear for the upperclassmen. In the underclassmen division, seventh and eighth tied for first with freshmen bringing in third. The rest of the Homecoming Pep Rally consisted of the King and Queen announcements of Nathan Oldorf and Kyla Brosh. Pepsi chug winner was Dan Kern, Tony Holets was first to sing the school song after eating crackers. Jeremy Kurth certainly did not lick his ice cream to take first, while Stefanie Tonne blew the biggest bubble, and Wes Wagner and Kyla Brosh threw eggs for a first place finish. The other class competition was the dizzy run, which was won by the freshman team, consisting of Robert Jarzombek, Blake Andersson, Beth Stolte, and Alison Sandberg.

Lincoln and Clarence-Lowden enjoyed the game against Tipton. Even though the game turned out to be a loss, 14 to 28, the Junior class had record concession sales, including an entire food sellout. Saturday was the dance and most had an explosion of fun.

Overall, Lincoln's last Homecoming may well have been the best in its thirty-four year history.

"I hoped for a win, but I had a lot of laughs and a lot of fun during the week to make up for it."

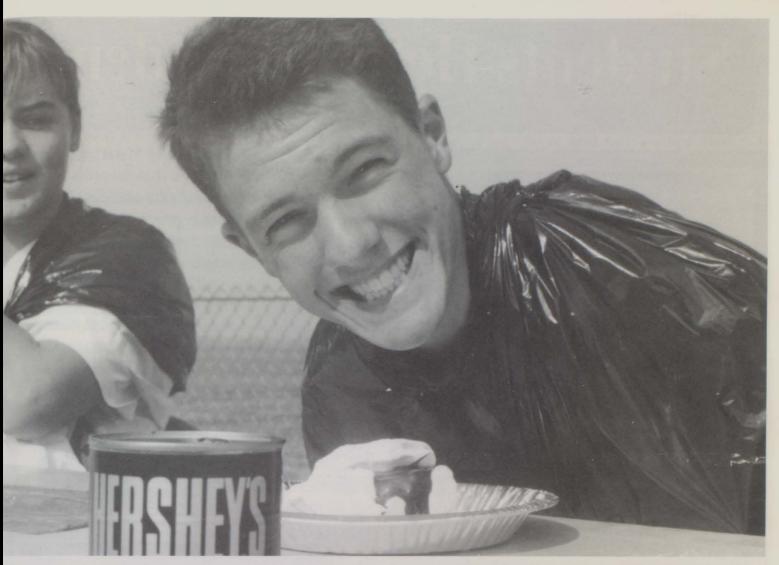

-Nick Beck

The Peers had many things to do this year. Many of their activities were in joint with Clarence-Lowden to help with next year's transition.

Some of these events directly helped the community. Some consisted red ribbon week at school as well as donations to the Samantha Wanek Scholarship fund and for flowers in the funeral. Another meeting with Mr. Bachman in which he gave them up-dated merger information.

Other activities included a picnic with West Branch Peers, a candy fundraiser, Secret Santas, and a rope challenge course in Iowa City. This year the Big Brother/Big Sister group tried to develop closer relationships than in previous years with the seventh graders and new students. They spent time doing various things together.

Such activities included showing them around school, attending breakfast with them, and occupying several afternoons with games and treats.

Overall, the program was a big success; the new students are aided in their transition to Lincoln

HIGH SCHOOL

The student council has helped the student body through all the 34 years of the school's history with a great deal of success.

Following tradition this year they aided in such holiday activities as a Halloween costume contest, winter holiday game day, and even a hypnotist.

They also helped to promote the blood-drive that takes place annually at the school.

There were several new activities sponsored by the student council. One was a pumpkin-carving contest in which the winning class received a pizza party. The next task was to form an advisory committee to help with the transition from Lincoln Community to North Cedar.

All in all, the student body had a wonderful year thanks in part to the great group of representatives who provide us with many opportunities to have fun.

JUNIOR HIGH

The junior high student council have also had the opportunity to learn leadership, government, and business skills from the ideas and assistance of Mrs. Kaefring, their sponsor.

These representatives have helped to organize several dances and other various activities for the seventh and eighth grade students.

Foreign Exchange

This year at Lincoln the seven foreign exchange students were involved in many activities such as sports, speech, peer counseling and plays. They also made many new friends. The foreign exchange students this year are: Toshiya Arai (Japan), Lynn-Albert Brandes (Germany), Tine Broesenhuber (Germany), Sabine Hug (Switzerland), Gustavo Iawata (Peru), Carsten Panzner (Germany), and Brooke Viner (Australia).

Some of the different states that they have visited during their stay are Colorado, Illionois, Nebraska, Washington, Wisconsin, New York, Minnesota, and Connecticut. Many exchange students know other languages besides their own language and English. Many exchange students speak Latin and French. They also like the school spirit of our students, that you can choose your classes, and that you don't have to go to school on Saturdays. They all enjoy our culture and like our openness and friendliness.

National Honor Society

On May 7, 1995, thirty-four students were honored for the National Honor Society. This prestigous honor is for those who maintain at least a 3.0 grade point average and show the four cardinal principles of National Honor Society. These four principles are Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service.

The graduate members of the National Honor Society recieved their chords to show their accomplishments of that being involved in NHS for at least two consecutive years. This is a great accomplishment and the other twenty-nine probationary and regular members are sure to follow. Lincoln should be very proud of these students for showing that you can not only succeed on the playing field, but in the classroom. as well.

Third period to these students is more than a class, it's a business to them. The staff worked with Jostens Publishing Company, so they had deadlines to meet. Writing copy, creating layouts, taking and cropping pictures, and placing labels are just the things that need to be done to finish the book. The staff also had to make major decisions about the format of the book, the cover, and most importantly, the theme. This year's staff hopes that they have created a book that shows what Lincoln was this final year.

The day started off with keynote speaker, Bob Steenlage. He told his life story and about how even though he had many struggles in his life, he overcame them and has become a very successful man. He left us with the message, "Never, never give up". There were a few new speakers as well as many who returned. They spoke on topics that varied from feeling good about yourself to learning about nature to teaching us how to repel down the side of the building. In addition to new speakers, this year Health Day was shared with Cl/L. The day proved to be successful.

Those attending the annual ski trip, hosted by Marilee Oldorf, traveled to Chestnut Mountain in Galena, IL. Over fifty students attended ranging from the elementary to high school.

The day was met with frigid temperatures, which were actually colder than what the thermometer said, due to the wind that gusted throughout the day. However, these conditions were forgotten by those who had come to have a good time. In the end, everyone who participated had a wonderful time and luckily no one went home broken.

Just a peaceful walk in the meadow. Jillian Beck, Rhonda Boesenberg, and Andrea Seehusen walk arm in arm during the few spare moments they had alone to enjoy Abbe Creek. (Below)

One thing second graders wait all year long for is Abbe Creek. The class takes a bus out to the old one-room schoolhouse by Mt. Vernon. They dress in attire appropriate to the time. Lunch is brought in metal pails. Once the class gets there, they are given the opportunity to participate in old-fashioned games and have a spelling lesson inside the historical landmark. Books and slates were found inside the antique desks. There was a dunce cap, wood stove, and an outhouse to make everything seem right out of the 18th Century.

"It's surprising how this metal pail keeps my lunch so fresh!" A group of second grade girls are really having fun at Abbe Creek! (Above Right)

The Junior-Senior Prom was definately "One Moment in Time" that won't be forgotten by those who attended. The junior class sponsored the prom at the Holidome in Cedar Rapids. A disc jockey was hired from station 105.7, "The Land of Oz". He filled the room with country, hard rock, pop rock, slow rock, oldies, and the unforgettable hokey-pokey.

After-prom was also a highlight for many of the prom-goers with card games, basketball, sumo wrestling, badminton, and balloon volleyball. Also appearing was a magician whose tricks were humorous and entertaining. The students also gambled for prizes. The two grand prizes were a color TV, taken home by Wes Wagner, and a VCR, claimes by Crystal Bails. The night ended with many tired students and teachers, many of whom slept for the next few days in and out of school..

"I'm Hans, & he's Franz & we're here to pump you up!" Kassey Mullikin says as she gets Nathan Oldorf in a head lock.

On May 28, at 2:00 p.m., 32 seniors were awarded the ultimate of all awards. Their diploma! It was the day that they had been waiting for. Thirteen years of diligent studying to get that slip of paper.

Jo Brown played the processional and accompanied the musical selection, "That's What Friends Are For".

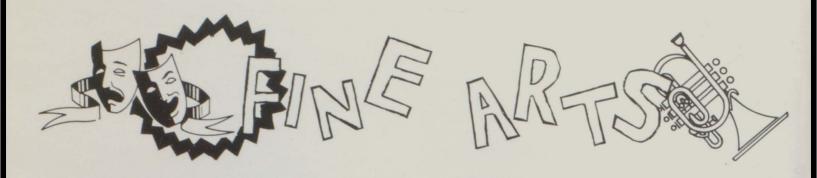

The commencement address was given by Dale Proctor, former superintendent of Lincoln. Mr. Grimm was surprised when Mr. Inman presented him with a plaque honoring him for 29 years of service at Lincoln by the Lincoln Education Association.

On November 18 and 19, the Lincoln Drama Department blew up the stage with "Cheaper by the Dozen" by Christopher Segel. How appropriate for the last Lincoln drama to be the same play Lincoln first performed. The story is set in the twenties and centers around the father (August Shaull) who insists that his family be "motion conservative" and try to save time for the important things in life. In this process, Anne (Stacey Jackson) deals with the trials and tribulations of life such as dating, graduation, and silk stockings! The story is narrated by Frank (Eric Glenn) and Ernestine (Heather Pritchard) Gilbreth, two of the twelve siblings. The rest of the brothers and sisters join right along in the comedy of running a self-sufficient family. Meanwhile, the mother (Jennie Davidson) helps to support the family emotionally as the father's health declines. This story is an excellent example of the "happiest time in the world... the time when nothing has happened to any one of you," a happy time.

Band had a very active year beginning from the start. The marching band performed at home football games and treated the crowd to a variety of music. Many members of the band attended the annual University of Iowa Band Extravganza where they observed the symphonic band, jazz band, and an earringing performance by the Hawkeye Marching Band.

Winter was a busy season for honor bands and band festivals. Selected students attended the Big East Conference Honor Band, Wartburg Band Festival, Augustana Honor Band, Central College Band Festival, and the Luther College Dorian Band Festival. Students were also quite actively involved in State Solo/Ensemble Contest with the whole band competing in the State Large Group Band Contest at Tipton.

The last concert was held in May which also included several community and alumni participants. With all the variety in band, its members had a fruitful

The choir, although small in numbers, had an enjoyable year. For the winter concert they and the junior high choir performed a musical on the problems of the homeless. With the admission to the concert being a can of food to benefit the homeless, their concert proved to be more than entertaining, but charitable too! The spring was a busy time preparing for the spring concert. The spring concert consist of a variety of music from operas. In addition to the spring concert the choir participated in a few vocal contests. The spring play, "A Night of Celebration", was another area that many members of the choir participated in. Throughout the year the choir was challenged and delighted with many opportunities to use their talents.

Both the large and individual speech divisions had a bang of a year. Large group had 5 groups go to state with all 5 receiving I's. Kyla Brosh was invited to go to Large Group All-State in her solo mime.

Big East saw the placing of 3 in 2 divisions: Robin Sandberg first in acting, Stacey Jackson second in acting, and a second for ensemble acting A.

Individual speech had 14 individuals go to state, a high number. Three of the pieces that went to state were written by Mr. Hayes, who was selected to be the chairman at Individual All-State. Robin Sandberg was selected with her acting piece to attend Individual All-State at UNI.

The drama department had an explosion of plays, performing three one acts. The evening was called "A Night of Celebration." It contained not only the one acts but also singing, dancing, music, and jokes.

Murder Is Fun!, the mystery part of the evening, was an audience participation play. The auidence was put to the task of solving the murder of Alfred Clark. Everyone looked guilty, including the crowd.

Smile was set in the South with a family of four women. Each of them had a secret that they hope will never come out. This comedy was mixed with a serious overtone.

Mirrors is set in Fred Peterson's head. It plays on what is reality and what is a dream. Just when you think you have figured it out, you see that you don't.

This last performance was topped off by having all the cast and crew coming together to perform one last number on Lincoln's stage. They sang Michael W. Smith's "Place in This World".

"The spring play was really a fun and good experience for me. For a first time actor, it was really fun. Our cast for our play was great, but most of all Mr. Hayes was fun and made it exciting. Overall, it was great."

The baseball team had a blast of a season this year. Our seniors, Mike Knutsen and Mike Glover were selected to the First Team All-Conference squad and Mike Sandberg filled a spot on the Second Team All-Conference. Also making the All-Conference Team was Brian Danly receiving Honorable Mention. These four individuals led the team to an overall record of 10-9 and a conference record of 7-6. The Panthers finished 6th out of 14 teams.

Glover and Knutsen make First Team All-Conference.

Highlights were victories over Mater Dei and Marquette on the road. The squad was very competitive but lacked depth in pitching. Mike Knutsen led the pitching staff with a 6-3 record with Brian Danly ending at 4-3.

The F-S record was 10-7 while the 8th grade completed play at 4-14. We are looking for some of our younger kids to step into play for our graduating seniors.

What a successful season the cross country team had this year! The Panthers worked very hard and look where it got them--two individuals went to state. Chris Schaefer and Nicolle Renick showed what they are made During the season, Chris worked hard and made many accomplishments. He won many meets, including the Big East Conference and Districts. But he didn't stop there, he went on to win the state championship and set a course record. Nicolle aslo made many accomplishments during her season, winning the Big East Conference and placing seventh at districts. She went on to state and placed 40th.

Schaefer and Renick go to state.

Not only did Chris and Nicolle have a great year, but the whole team did well. The boys placed 5th and the girls placed 4th at the Big East Conference Meet.

Coach Bill Bails said, "The team did really well and with enough confidence in themselves they could do anything."

The football team had a surprising season this year. No one really knew what to actually expect since we moved to a different conference. But to everyone's surprise we did well in conference play with an overall record of 6-3.

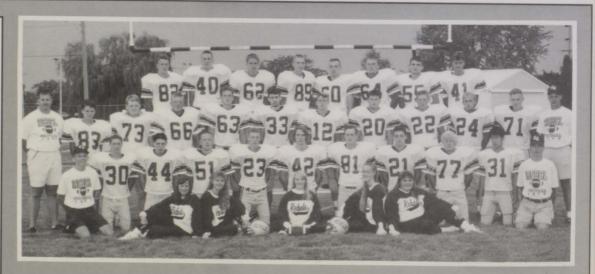

Oldorf receives All-District Honorable Mention

With a few Lincoln students out, the panthers made us look good. Brian Danly had a total number of 714 yards in receiving. He had the most on the team. Nick Beck also had a successful season by having a total of seven touch downs. Others Panthers who received all conference honors are: Brian Danly (All-District Second Team Offense) and Nathan Oldorf (All-District Honorable Mention).

What did you like most about Lincoln?

'The kids cared, the staff cared, and the community cared. There was respect."

-Debbie Miller Farrington

Before there was Lincoln, there was Stanwood and Mechanicsville. Both of these schools survived the hard times of consolidating and became an impressive high school. This just goes to show that even in 1995 history can still repeat itself.

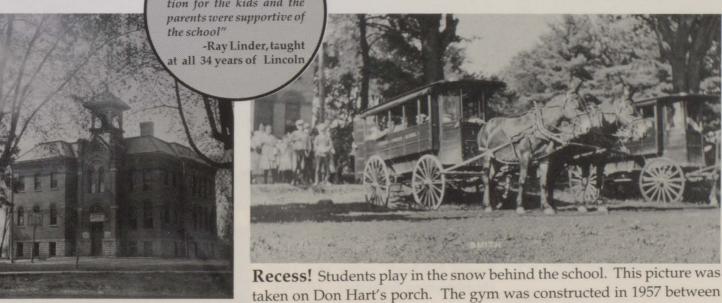

The independent school district of Mechanicsaville was formed in 1866. At this time, there was a violent opposition carried to both District and Supreme Courts. The opposition failed and the organization occured.

It wasn't until 1907 that the school building in Mechanicsville was built to house the school kids. In 1968, the library and art rooms were added.

Meanwhile, the school building in Stanwood was erected in 1874. However, tragically, the school building was destroyed by fire in 1901. A new building was constructed a year later and named the McKinley Building, after President William McKinley. With the new school building and hopes of a better education, the rural schools were shut down and students were bussed into Stanwood to attend their school.

date the surrounding areas of Mechanicsville received a negative vote. Efforts were renewed in 1920 and, at this time, was passed. The rural students in Mechanicsville were, in the same manner as rural residents of Stanwood, bussed to school.

The present high school building in Stanwood was built in 1920 with the gym being constructed between the two buildings in 1957.

State pressure in 1959 requiring larger enrollment and an expanded curriculum, coupled with the threat of witholding state aid, forced the school boards of both communities to search for an escape. In 1961, there result of their search was for Stanwood and Mechanicsville to merge into a new, larger district called Lincoln Community School.

Two things to remember about high school: 1. High school is the best time of your life, live it, play it, and enjoy it. And if you have time, do some homework. 2. Life sucks, but hey, then you graduate.

APPRECIATION

Next year the North Cedar School District will be without two people who have been with Lincoln for many years. Mr. Louis Grimm and Mrs. Dorothy Ferguson have decided that with the end of Lincoln Community School District would be coupled with the end of their teaching careers.

throughout his 29 years.

Mrs. Dorothy Ferguson has been teaching for 40 years. She has taught for Lincoln since its beginning, and even a few years before the merger between Mechanicsville and Stanwood took place.

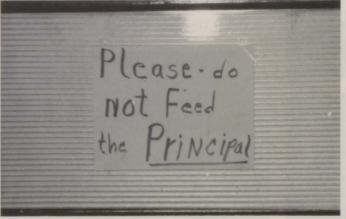

We would like to thank and show our appreciation to Mr. Grimm and Mrs. Ferguson for all their hard work and time. Lincoln Community would not have been the same without them.

Mr. Grimm has been at Lincoln since 1966. He has acted as principal and assistant superintendent

As editor of the last Lincoln yearbook, I would like to show my appreciation to all those who helped make this book a reality. First and foremost, to my staff. To Annette and Mandi: Your sports section is dynamite! Jennie: You created an awesome fine arts section! Justin: All your ideas were magnificent! Quincy: I've never seen a better staff section! To Lynn and August: Our "professional floaters/caption-makers" we couldn't have done it without you guys! Nicolle: You are a superfantastic artist! Thanks for all your artistic contributions to the book. You did GREAT! Debbie: To a wonderful business manager: Thanks for keeping the books and money under control! And to Tony: Thank you for all your hard work and tons of time you worked on the computers. There would be no way I could have got along without you and your computer expertise. THANK YOU! THANK YOU! And to my assistant editor, Heather: You did a great job! Thank you for all your help. When I needed your help, you were there with everything under control. You've got what it takes to be a GREAT EDITOR next year! Others I would like to thank are:

Deb Mulligan, our Jostens represenative
Darren Miller, Albaugh Photography, and Marilee Oldorf for all the pictures.
And to Mr. Hayes:
Remember..."This ain't your yearbook!"
But thanks for all your time you put in to help us make such a great yearbook!
